As the leading candidate it is not Tikely that he will have any reserve or any growing strength. Friends of all the other candidates will unite, after the usual manner on much accasions, to pull him down. It is highly probable, indeed, that his name will not be pre-sented to the convention; for, though he is anxious, doubtless, to see how many supporters can get while protesting that he is not a candidate, and while he would be delighted also reach, he plainly intends, on ascertaining that ho is not the choice of an actual majority, to orbid the use of his name and proclaim snew solved not to contend for it.

Except in Pennsylvania, and in less degree in Ohio, there has toon no marked demonstration in favor of Mc. Blaine. In Pennsylvania he has very scrong support, due chiefly to the fact that in 1876 and again in 1880 the "bo-ses" isotehas in 1876 and again in 1880 the workest territorial in the state and the increase of manufacturing resoluted to appear the property of the property and the property of the property of the state of the agricultural west, he says, class the last two conventions was not of that tation, they eagerly ombrace. Comment on Salvin's Gladiator.

Pail Mail Budest.
Our insular prejudice in favor of Suskespeare of cocivos support from the unquestionable inferiority of Salvin's non Shakespearen perferomance. Our greater familiarity with the Shakespearan plays cannot account for this effect, since it merely subjects the ador to nomparisons, whereas in La Morte Clville and if Gladiatore he has a fair field and no favor.

The fact is that in both these dramas he plays with all his old mestery, but, the material being inferior, he produces inferior effects. Sometimet's retorical gladiator is, if not a more interesting, at least a less monotonous, person ago than Glacomett's lachrymuse convict. The play is not without molodramatic vigor, reminding one occasionally of Sheridar. Hundles at his best; but there is a fatally operation in mour many of its situations, while the chief characters seem to full naturally into their places as battune, trong soprano and Olearer weather has prevailed to day throughout the northwest. General real for the week appears to have been rather availer than fur two weeks age. To a measure this is accounted for by felay to freight trains. This morning a heavy train came is, and they are a large number of cars now on this side of Helena. Lets cool weather will bend to check the rate in the Columbia for a short time, but there is a large volume of water to come down this spring.
